Dog handler Jonathan Cook removes Charlie the American bulldog from the house

Family's pet dog attacks little girl

THE mother of Tanisha Hall said her daughter was being "very, very brave" after being viciously attacked by the family's pet dog.

Tanisha, aged five, suffered serious facial injuries in the attack, which took place at the family home in Hanemill Court, Bellinge, Northampton.

Charlie, the American bulldog which mauled Tanisha on Sunday, has since been destroyed by police and Suzanne Hall, Tanisha's mother, said her daughter was recovering.

Speaking from Northampton General Hospital yesterday, she said: "She's a very, very brave girl and I'm really proud of her.

She has had to have stitches and she's got cuts all over her face, but they are not life threatening and she's recovering very well.

"The consultants here are pleased with her progress and although she's got scars, she has got time on her side because she's young so it's all healing well.

"She's generally doing fine, but she won't let me leave her side because she's still upset."

Doctors said Tanisha should be back at home with her family by the end of the week.

Miss Hall, who is 24 weeks pregnant, said the damage caused by the dog's rage could have been far worse if it were not for the intervention of her boyfriend Stuart Benjamin, known to his friends as Benji.

She said: "He was a real hero, but he's been quite badly hurt. He's got very serious injuries on his arms where he pulled Charlie off. But if it wasn't for him, I'm sure it would have been a lot worse and my daughter would probably be dead."

The Rev Michael Hills

Vicar's anger over 'sham' marriages

A VICAR has spoken out against foreign couples who are targeting churches in Northampton for sham marriages.

Four people, all foreign nationals, were each jailed for two years last week after admitting trying to dupe the Rev Michael Hills, of the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, into marrying them.

Mr Hills says he has seen at least three weddings in his churches raided by immigration officers as couples were about to tie the knot. Another five couples have been arrested as they arrived in Northampton to sort out the wedding paperwork.

The bogus weddings are typically between an illegal immigrant from Africa and a non-British EU national.

Speaking to our sister paper the Chronicle & Echo, Mr Hills said sham marriages "took advantage of the church" and said vicars now had to make sure they were extra vigilant.

He said: "About a year ago we started to get lots and lots of foreign weddings, particularly from Nigerian people who were marrying Eastern Europeans."

"Eventually what happened was the police turned up at Holy Sepulchre and arrested one couple."

"It was found their passports were false and they had also given me false bills to prove their address."

He added: "I think there are some pretty desperate people out there really. They will do anything to stay here basically. It is upsetting."

Mr Hills, who is vicar of both Holy Sepulchre and St Michael's Church, in Northampton, said changes might be needed inside the Church to clamp down on sham couples.

Traditionally the Church has checked the validity of marriages by asking the parish congregation on three successive Sundays and then again on the marriage day if they know of "any lawful impediment" why a couple cannot be married.

However, Mr Hills said: "It is very difficult to do that now, especially in towns when people don't know each other as they used to."

"We are not equipped to say whether a passport or a household bill is false or not."

Asked about the two year sentences handed down on Friday, he added: "I think it is fair enough."

"They are taking advantage of the system. If they are going to come and tell lies they are going to have to face the consequences, especially if they are telling lies to the church."

Mum holds first event

Louise Flannery with her daughter, Evie Mai, who has been diagnosed with the rare Arnold Chiari malformation disorder

THE mother of a little girl with a rare brain disorder has vowed to continue to raise awareness about the crippling condition after holding a first fundraising event at the weekend.

Brave Evie Mai Flannery, aged four, of Raeburn Road, Kingsley, Northampton, underwent brain surgery at John Radcliffe Hospital in Oxford in February after doctors diagnosed her with Arnold Chiari malformation disorder.

The rare illness affects fewer than one in 1,000 people and hits the body's nervous system causing fluid to develop inside the spinal cord, often leading to paralysis.

On Saturday Evie's mum, Louise, organised the first of what she hopes will be an annual event to raise money for the Ann Conroy Trust and John Radcliffe Hospital.

She said: "We are trying to raise awareness about Chiari malformation. It remains incurable and I intend to make this an annual event to raise money for the Ann Conroy Trust, which funds research into the condition, and to raise awareness about the illness. Every penny we raise is going to go to a good cause."

The family fun day at The Romany pub included a bouncy castle, face painting, raffle and live music in the evening.

Louise said she was now hoping to set up her own website to promote awareness of the illness.

She said: "It is so rare and that is the point of today. Research into it is so limited and I want to get own website to put more information out there."

Louise said Evie was still suffering from symptoms of the illness and might have to undergo a second operation some time in the future.

However, she said the support she had received from friends and family had been "fantastic".

Reduce Energy Loss by 90%

You have probably heard that the amount of energy that we waste in our homes is directly linked to climate change. You will have definitely noticed the ever increasing cost of heating your home. But did you know that the type of glass that you use in your windows can help your home be more energy efficient? Using Pilkington EnergiKare you will improve the energy efficiency of your home and save on your heating bills.

Simply using Pilkington EnergiKare as the glazing unit in your windows reduces the amount of energy lost through your windows by up to 90%. Homesure are one of the first Pilkington EnergiKare approved installers and now use this fantastic new glass across our range, ensuring Homesure customers now have the maximum benefit from new windows. For more information, contact us to discuss your requirements.

The pressure is on to improve the energy performance of windows and we are now reaching the stage where mere double glazing will no longer be enough. The rough and ready method of comparing the energy performance of windows is to use the U value measurement, just as we do with walls, floors and roofs.

Traditional windows, with a single pane of glass in them, have a U-value in excess of 5. Double glazing used to score over 3, but, over the years, the manufacturing process has undergone a number of improvements and currently the Building Regulations insist that any window you install today should have a U-value no worse than 1.0.

Heating Cost Savings of up to £14,500
over 20 years with an Energy Rated Window

These improvements have been brought about by the introduction of water barriers between the two glass panes, low-emissivity coatings being added to the glass to stop heat escaping. The cavity being filled with an inert gas, usually argon and designing out cold bridges, such as aluminium spacers. The question is, does this mean the next step is to move from double to triple glazing? Triple glazing is widely used in cold climate countries like Sweden and Norway.

Concerns over police cells

THE grotty state of Northamptonshire's police station cells has been revealed in an annual report by independent inspectors.

Prisoners complained about freezing cells and broken lights, while out-of-date food was discovered in the fridges at police stations including Campbell Square and Weston Favell in Northampton.

The details have been revealed in a report by Northamptonshire Police Authority's independent custody visitors, volunteers who meet detainees to check their welfare.

According to the report, out-of-date food was discovered in refrigerators on several occasions between April 2009 and March this year. Custody was also described on one occasion

as being "manic" because it was so busy, while on one day a whole block was left without lighting.

In June last year, one visitor to Campbell Square reported "cells one, two and three out of use due to lack of heating".

Another report from Weston Favell notes: "Cells still cold! Emailed raising concern about cold cells. Received reply . . . there is no oil because allegedly the bill has not been paid."

On another occasion, a visitor said: "Problems with lights in the cell blocks not working at all or not working correctly."

Out-of-date vegetable chilli and tuna pastas were also discovered on several visits, the report stated.

The independent visitor report is the first to be issued to Northamptonshire Police Authority after a request by members.

School savings on rise

THE AMOUNT of money Northamptonshire schools have sitting in the bank has increased by more than £5 million in the past year, despite constant attempts to get the figure down.

As far back as 2006, schools across Northamptonshire were warned they must spend some of the £36 million they had sitting in the bank, or run the risk of losing it.

But after the 2006 warning, the "school balances" rose to £44.4 million in 2008 and then to £44.6 million in 2009.

Latest figures published by Northamptonshire County Council this week show the figure now stands at £49.7 million.

In a report which will be seen by members of the council's cabinet next week, council finance expert, Bob Seaman, warned the money would have to be reduced, or the Government could take some of it back.

He said: "While a significant proportion of the carry forward is identified as committed expenditure, there is a need to introduce greater scrutiny both on the part of the local authority and governors of this committed expenditure and, where necessary, to challenge these commitments, particularly if the commitment has remained in place for more than one financial year."

He added: "There is a risk that the Government will take action and remove some of the Northamptonshire school balances."

Over the past few years, schools have argued much of the money they have in the bank is needed for future projects, such as building work. But the council said there remained a concern that the balances had remained as high as they were simply because the money is not being spent.

The money held by schools across the county and how it should be spent is currently being discussed by school leaders and governors along with the council.

Members of the council's leading cabinet will give their views on how the issue should be tackled when they meet at County Hall in Northampton on Tuesday, June 8.

Record breakers

FROM eating cockroaches to balancing cars on their heads . . . a whole host of world record breakers will be showing off their skills at an event at Billing Aquadrome, Northampton.

The Record Holders Republic Olympics are taking place at the Crow Lane venue on Saturday, June 12, and Sunday, June 13. A variety of record holders will be taking part and trying to smash further records.

There will also be the chance for members of the public to try their hand at new records.

Peter Dowdeswell, vice-chairman of the republic, who lives in Earls Barton, said: "World record holders will be coming from everywhere."

John Evans is attending. He balances things on his head . . . he has the record for balancing a car on his head.

If you are interested in taking part in the event can contact Mr Dowdeswell on 07500 019620. For details visit www.recordholdersrepublic.co.uk

Northants rocked by Theron blow

NORTHANTS have received a blow ahead of their Friends Provident T20 campaign with the news that Juan Theron will not be arriving from South Africa.

Theron, who was a member of the South African squad in the recent World Twenty20, had agreed to join the Steelbacks for the opening five games of their schedule prior to the arrival of Zimbabwean all-rounder Elton Chigumbura.

But a different interpretation of the regulations by the relevant authorities has resulted in the deal being declared null and void.

And that has left David Capel a frustrated man with the head coach saying: "It's disappointing news and all because of a minor technicality. We were given permission to sign him and then it was removed. Having been told yes and then being told he couldn't come wasn't ideal.

"We've jumped through hoops to make it happen and it was great coup to get someone like Juan who had done all that was asked of him. But it is as it is and we'll just have to get on with it."

It isn't the first time the County have had their plans altered following the will he, won't he saga over Virender Sehwag a couple of months ago.

While Capel is adamant that Theron would have added an extra dimension to the Steelbacks' lineup, especially with his bowling at the end of the innings, he believes his absence will provide an opportunity for someone else.

"We've got our squad and there's no point worrying about what isn't going to happen," said Capel. "The lads, especially Lee Daggett and Jack Brooks, bowled superbly against Holland on Monday so we've got seamers in good form and there is also Chaminda (Vaas) and David Willey to come back into the frame.

"That should enable us to have plenty of options with the ball - we want to play four seamers and two spinners ideally - and when Elton arrives in a couple of weeks it will look a lot healthier."

Meanwhile, a scan on Niall O'Brien's injured finger last night is expected to confirm whether the wicket-keeper-batsman will be able to take his place in the side at Edgbaston today.

O'Brien missed the trouncing of Holland with David Murphy taking his place.

Town rule out Jeffers

ENGLAND depart for South Africa with a World Cup good luck message delivered through tears of pain from Theo Walcott. The Arsenal ace, pictured here with David Beckham following last week's friendly win over Mexico at Wembley, was the biggest omission from manager Fabio Capello's final squad of 23. "I am very disappointed not to be included in the squad going out to South Africa, but completely respect Mr Capello's decision," said Walcott. "I would like to wish the team the best of luck and hope they have a really successful tournament."

THE Cobblers have rubbished reports linking them with a move for former England international striker Francis Jeffers.

The 29-year-old, whose £500,000-a-year contract at Sheffield Wednesday came to an end last week, was reported in the national media to be in talks at Sixfields.

Both the Daily Mail and the Express ran the story on Tuesday, which was also carried by the Sheffield Star in its evening edition.

But Town chairman David Cardoza says he has no idea where the rumour has come from, and was quick to dismiss it.

"I don't know anything about it," he said. "I was quite surprised to read it in one of the papers. It was news to me.

"There's nothing in it whatsoever. You might see more players like that coming down to this level this summer, though."

Jeffers is a player whose catalogue of injuries have meant he is in the twilight of his career - and that hardly fits the criteria for signings at Sixfields this summer.

Manager Ian Sampson wants to put together a young side that can develop over the medium term into a team to be reckoned with.

"Sammo wants to get a young team together that can grow and mature as a group," said Cardoza.

"But we know we need to get a couple of experienced players in as well.

"It will be about getting the balance right and I'm confident he (Sampson) will be able to do that with the players he brings in this summer."

Meanwhile, Scottish Premier League side Aberdeen have confirmed they have inquired about signing Cobblers player of the year Adebayo Akinfenwa.

The striker has reportedly attracted the interest of seven clubs, with 'three or four' of them making concrete offers.

Akinfenwa's agent Dean Baker is confident he will secure at least a 'decent league one' club for his client.

"There has been an inquiry from Aberdeen but no offer as yet," said Baker. "He is out of contract having turned down a future deal with Northampton.

"I've had seven inquiries and three or four offers. I've had a few bits and pieces from other SPL clubs.

"Aberdeen would be on his radar if there is an offer. We will see if they come back in.

"Adebayo is on holiday at the moment and is away for another week. But he is quite relaxed about it.

"He knows he had a good season and won't struggle to get a decent league one club or possibly one in the SPL.

"When he gets back he will probably look to do something prior to the end of June."
